

DHC USA Inc. introduces Platinum Silver Nanocolloid Milky Essence and Cream

Two new moisturizing products leverage nanotechnology for easier absorption

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., April 9, 2007—

DHC USA Inc., a distinguished provider of high-quality beauty products and makeup, proudly presents two new skin-loving products: Platinum Silver Nanocolloid Milky Essence, a light-textured booster, and Platinum Silver Nanocolloid Cream, an intensive, age-defying moisturizer. Each product helps fight the appearance of fine lines to promote younger-looking skin with a little help from the science of nanotechnology, which helps render the products far more absorptive. These 21st century moisturizing products are also enriched with hydrating botanicals to further pamper your complexion.

“We all want to look our best, and for many, maintaining a more youthful appearance is akin to positive self image,” explains Hadrian Miguel, licensed esthetician at DHC USA’s headquarters in San Francisco, California. “By adding both Platinum Silver Nanocolloid Milky Essence and Platinum Silver Nanocolloid Cream to your daily skincare regimen, you can maximize their benefits—thereby promoting firmer, more resilient looking skin.”

Usage

For best results, DHC’s Platinum Silver Nanocolloid products should be used in tandem. After cleansing and toning, dispense 2–3 pumps of Platinum Silver Nanocolloid Milky Essence on to fingertips and gently tap into skin as a booster. Once dry, massage a thin layer of Platinum Silver Nanocolloid Cream into your entire face as a moisturizer.
